It is mostly used for motion design and visual effects Element is capable of animating and rendering, it uses its own renderer to generate a high-end realistic results, it features shaders, global illumination, texture mapping, lighting, animating and 3D compositing.. It allows you to be a designer and not a technician It doesn't replace a full 3D app, but for many of designers, it will do enough that they won't need to learn a 3D.. But it can do a professional work in much less time according to its simple interface and presets, that it was designed for easier workflow, user friendly and final results..
